London, April 30.—The French now hold the entire village of Locre, west of Kemmel, says the official statement from the war office today.

During the night the British advanced their lines east of Villers on the front before Amiens. In the vicinity of Locre the French by counter attacks yesterday afternoon and evening drove the Germans from the remainder of the ground that they had gained in the morning. The Germans having been heavily repulsed all along the northern battlefield, the night passed in comparative quiet.

Paris, April 30.—Heavy artillery fighting occurred last night north and south of Avre in the sector of Noyon and all along the Oise, the war office reports. On the right bank of the Meuse, on the Verdun front and in upper Alsace German detachments were repulsed by French fire, leaving prisoners in the hands of the French without obtaining any results.

AGED VERMONT MAN IS MURDERED

(By Associated Press)
Barre, Vt., April 30.—John Hogart, aged 80 years, who lived at Middlesex was murdered and robbed last night. His skull was fractured by a blow. His body was found today by Elton Sherman.

Hogart was known to have kept considerable money about him and his house was broken into and ransacked. Two men were later arrested in Montreal and an investigation followed.

NAVY YARD NOTES

For Good Seamanship
Lieut. Commander Albert B. Randall, U. S. N. R. F., of Bridgeport, Conn., has been commended by the navy department for "initiative and good seamanship," on February 28, when he took his vessel the U. S. S. Standard Arrow, from her berth at an Atlantic port, under adverse conditions, after harbor pilots had refused to accept the responsibility.

Mostly Helpers
Two pipefitter's helpers, one moulder's helper, 11 general helpers, 12 shipfitter's helpers, 5 moulders and 1 laborer were included in the call today.

Where Do We Fit on the Portsmouth Yard Needs?

The big appropriation of $3,925,000 for Boston yard was proposed by Senator Henry C. Lodge of Massachusetts as amendment to the naval bill. The sum is divided as follows: Piers, $400,000; power plants, $1,200,000; machine shop and foundry extensions, $1,000,000; loft, $400,000; miscellaneous, $300,000.

Selling a Liberty Bull

A Liberty bull is being sold at the Portsmouth navy yard. The bull is of Jersey variety and two months old. He was given by C. R. Emery, a machinist and will be sold at ten cents a throw. The money secured through the sale of the animal will be used to buy Liberty Bonds and the bonds will be turned over to organizations engaged in war charity work. It has also been agreed to give the bull to some stock raiser by the one who wins it.

$300,000 Today
The Liberty Bond subscriptions at the local yard reached $300,000 at noon today.

April Edition Out

The April edition of the Life Buoy was issued today by the Industrial Department.

Put on Uniforms this Week

The women yeomen of the naval reserve will appear on Thursday in the regular Norfolk suit or uniform. Thirty-two of them will be fitted out at the local yard by Jordan Marsh Co. of Boston.

Will Restore 100 Men.

The navy department has approved of the restoration of 100 men to duty from the naval prison this week as recommended by Lieut. Commander Thomas Mott Osborne.

No Baseball Tour

Despite the appeal of Mayor Peters, of Boston, Secretary of the Navy Daniels refuses to approve the contemplated tour of the navy yard baseball team.

The mayor telegraphed: "The people of Boston would appreciate an opportunity to be heard before the navy department approves the cancellation of the schedule of the Boston navy yard baseball team. The team and the navy yard band have done very much a help recruiting and I believe the curtailment of their activities would be harmful. I appreciate your consideration in the matter."

Secretary Daniels replied: "The baseball schedule was given careful consideration before it was disapproved. The need of men for ships fitting out is urgent, and the navy department does not consider it practicable to permit the considerable number of men on a baseball team to make an extensive tour. Local games to encourage athletics and help recruiting are encouraged."

OLD FERRY BOAT STARTS ON HER LONG CRUISE

Left Tuesday Afternoon for Lake Champlain; Will Stop at Boston for Minor Repairs.

The ferryboat Kittery, which has for the past fifteen years bucked the strong tide of the Piscataqua and been a familiar sight between Portsmouth and Badger's Island, sailed today on one of the longest cruises she has ever had. The boat in tow of the tug M. Mitchell Davis started for Boston where some repairs will be made on her smoke-stack after which another tug will take her to New York. The work at Boston will require a week. A crew of six men will go with the boat and also the president of the Grand Isle Ferry Co., who purchased the boat. She will sail up the Hudson and finally land at her home port at Grand Isle on Lake Champlain where the boat will be put in service between there and Plattsburg.

Badger's Island slip will look lonely without the old ferryboat but the men who have had to do duty on the craft from time to time will not assemble in any mourning party because her home port has been changed.

The owners are delighted with the purchase and the boat is exactly what they need on the lake between the above named points. When put in service again the company will use her for the transportation of vehicles as well as passengers.

HUGE NUMBERS USED BY ENEMY IN DRIVE

On the French front in France, April 30.—From March 21 until today the Germans have employed approximately 130 divisions (1,500,000 men), of which thirty (420,000) have been withdrawn to refill the ranks and have been sent into the battle for the second time, making the total of divisions in action 160 (2,340,000 men). About seventy other divisions (850,000 men) have not yet been engaged in the battle, but of these a considerable proportion are unfit to do more than hold quiet sectors. The forward movement must therefore be carried through very quickly as otherwise the general staff will find itself without sufficient reserves.

SAVED CABLES WIFE TO LOOK AT BIBLE

London, April 30.—One of the survivors of the torpedoed steamship which was carrying Y. M. C. A. workers to England was Philip Cook of Baltimore.

Desiring to notify his wife in America of his safety he cabled:

"See Acts, chapter 27, verses 41 to 43."

This is the passage describing the shipwreck of the Apostle Paul, ending with the sentence: "And so it came to pass that they escaped all safe to land."

NEW AMERICAN SHIP SUNK OFF FRANCE

New York, April 30.—The American steamship Westerner, one of the first of the new ships built by the Emergency Fleet Corporation, was sunk in a collision Sunday off the French coast according to information received by shipping circles today. All aboard were saved.

The Westerner, a vessel of about 5000 tons, launched on the Pacific coast in February, was returning to the U. S. after her maiden trip to Europe.

ROCHESTER

Rochester, April 30.—The funeral of Mrs. Lucille Henderson, widow of John R. Henderson, was held at the residence on Charles street, Rev. Frank S. Hartley officiating. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Mabel Tenley of Boston, her sister-in-law, and in the Rochester cemetery.

Mrs. Elsie Sylvain, wife of Theophilus Sylvain, died Sunday at her home, 22 Washington street, aged 51 years. She was born in Canada and had resided in Rochester 22 years. She belonged to St. Gabriel church. C. O. P. Her parents were Adolph and Marie (Portier) Laroche. Besides her husband she is survived by four sons and three daughters.

Mrs. Anna LeClair, who was born in Canada and reared in this city, died at Lowell, Mass., Sunday, and the body will be brought to this city for service and interment. She was the daughter of the late Cyrus Volney of this city. Her husband and two adopted sons survive her. Her age was 42 years.

Mrs. Adeline B. Greenfield, widow of Charles Greenfield, died at her home on Wakenfield street, Saturday night, aged nearly 92 years, from heart disease, after an illness of eight weeks. She has had trouble with her eyes for the past twenty years, and for the past year has been totally blind. She was a life-long resident of Rochester, the daughter of Jeremiah and Sally (Hitchcock) Downes. Four children survive her, Mrs. Elsie Lavitt of Cape Porpoise, Me., and John Greenfield, Mrs. Sarah Young and Mrs. Harriet Wehtworth of this city.

There was a fashionable wedding at St. Mary's church Monday morning, the nuptial parties being George Freeman and Miss Ellen H. Hurlingham, daughter of Mrs. Edgar Hurlingham. The groom is the son of Dennis Hurlingham, the contracting parties both being residents of this city. Rev. F. J. J. McNamara celebrated nuptial high mass. The bride was handsomely attired in pink blue silk and carried a pearl prayer book. The best man was Leo Brennan, brother of the groom, and the matron of honor, Mrs. David J. Lacey, sister of the bride. This groom attended the high school and the bride is a graduate. Most beautiful presents were received. The ceremony was followed by a reception and breakfast at the bride's home on Glen street, and later in the day the couple left on a bridal trip. They will reside at the bride's home. There were present from out of town Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoch, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brennan of Boston, and Mrs. Ellen Cassidy of Somersworth.

NEW GUN WILL FIRE 114 MILES

EXETER

Philadelphia, April 30.—America's biggest gun, designed to throw shells a distance of 114 miles, has just been completed. It passed through Philadelphia on its way to a point on the Atlantic seaboard where it will be given its final tests. It was made at the Middletown steel works, mounted at the Edgemoor plant of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and weighs 600,000 pounds or more than 200 tons.

Test shots are to be fired in the tests to ascertain the extreme range of the weapon but its designers are confident it will shoot 114 miles.

While others are being built, the cannon is so constructed that it is called a mobile gun, despite its huge size and weight. It was mounted on a specially constructed carriage and can be rolled along the railroad tracks as potently as the best oiled and geared train in the country. It can be used for coast defense or aboard ship, once it is riveted tight, but it is primarily intended for land defense.

The annual May fair, which has been held on May day for the last 60 years, will be omitted this year. In its place, however, a May party will be held in Unity hall on Wednesday.

There will be a box supper at 6.30 o'clock. There will also be dancing by the children in the afternoon, and in the evening a play will be given.

The chemicals were called out Sunday afternoon for a blaze in the Goodwin Bros. block on Water street, where an oil stove exploded. The fire was extinguished without much damage.

New Haven, April 30.—Low Tandler of Philadelphia was given the referee's decision over Willie Jackson of New York at the end of a fast 15-round bout here last night.

INTERMED GERMANS NOT WASTING FOOD

Washington, April 30.—The treatment of interned Germans in the U. S. is being used by German propagandists in an effort to create distrust and dissatisfaction among the American people. Through their system of "grapevine" publicity, they are endeavoring to create the impression that the interned Germans are being fed on the fat of the land—that while the American people are being asked to save wheat the German prisoners are being well fed on bread, cake, pastries made entirely of wheat. Their campaign has been directed largely to the rural districts and in some sections has aroused more or less dissatisfaction.

The Food Administration has officially denied the rumors. The Germans interned in American detention camps are being well fed, but there is no ground for a report that food is being wasted or that conservation is not being practiced. All civilian German prisoners are subject to and are being made to observe all rules and regulations of the Food Administration. Their per capita consumption of wheat is held to within one and one-half pounds per week. No commodity is wasted, although consumption has not been and will not be reduced to a point that would threaten the health of the men and the women held at the detention camps.

The military prisoners—prisoners of war—receive the regular garrison rations of the U. S. army. This is according to the Hague convention. The same requirement applies to all other nations. American and Allied prisoners in Germany must receive the garrison rations of the German army.

GREENLAND

Greenland, April 30.—The funeral services of Mrs. Rufus Weeks, who died recently, were held here.

GIVE PRESIDENT GREAT POWER

Overman Bill Allowing Him to Reorganize All Departments Passed by Senate

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 29.—Rejecting all amendments designed to curtail the President's powers, the Senate late this afternoon passed the Overman bill designed to give the President to co-ordinate and reorganize all government departments.
The vote on the measure was 63 to 13.

13, many senators who have offered the most strenuous objections to the bill during the debate, voting for its final passage. Only one democrat, Reed of Montana, voted against the bill and the republicans were Brandegee, Cummings, Dillingham, Fawcett, Gallinger, Harding, Johnson of Cal., Knox, Pollock, Sherman, Sterling and Southard.

FRIENDLY CO-OPERATION JAPAN AND U. S.

(By Associated Press)
Tokyo, March 21.—Friendly co-operation between Japan and the United States was the spirit of the speeches delivered last night at a dinner given by the American-Japan Society in honor of Viscount Ishii, the new ambassador to Washington, the former Ambassador, Admiral Sato, and Baron Megata, the chief of the Japanese financial mission which recently visited America.

Besides the guests, the speakers included Ishii, the American Ambassador, Viscount Kaneko, the president of the society, Dr. H. Blake of Yokohama, member of the executive committee, and Dr. J. Takahashi of New York.

Viscount Ishii, expressed his conviction that, among the many changes which are being brought about by this great war, the most fundamental one should be in the field of diplomacy. To his mind the German way of international dealing and Pan-Germanism should be eradicated. The Ambassador was convinced that justice and fairness as well as frankness and sincerity should be their sole guidance in all dealings between civilized nations.

An especial cause of satisfaction and gratification was found in the excellent relations actually existing between Japan and the United States. Today there were no disturbing clouds on the horizon of the Pacific and, in fact, the relations between Japan and America had never been so cordial and friendly as at this moment. He warned his hearers, however, that a vigilant watch must ever be maintained lest the even active enemy should again slip in and renew his attempts to sow the seeds of discord as he had done with so small success in the past.

Baron Megata voiced his thanks for the sympathy, consideration and help with which his mission was received in the United States. He believed the visit would tend to a clearer and better understanding between the two nations. He said his visit had brought the Japanese into closer touch with American leaders in industry and finance.

ance and had suggested more opportunities and possibilities for co-operative endeavor between the two nations, especially in the Far East. He urged more exchange visits between the countries in the future.

Ambassador Morris praised the accomplishments of Viscount Ishii, and said that the United States was to be congratulated on his selection as ambassador to Washington.

Viscount Kaneko declared that at this critical moment of the war they should send a message to the soldiers and sailors of the allies urging them to fight to the end and declaring that all the men and resources of the United States and Japan are ready for their support.

OFFERED BIG SUM FOR BABE RUTH

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK WILDLY ENTHUSIASTIC

(By Associated Press)
New York, April 29.—One hundred and five of the French army veterans known as the "Blue Devils" who arrived here today to assist the 50

French veterans who came yesterday gave New York a series of thrilling patriotic speeches. A high pitch when the cheering veterans swung down Broadway and as soon as the ceremony was over scattered to assist in the Liberty Loan.

Led by a detachment of the State Guard the veterans, some of them mere boys, were given a great ovation, dignified merchants and capitalists threw their hats in the air and howled themselves hoarse. The city was just recovering from their outbreak when the French veterans swung down the street and their welcome was only exceeded by that given to the Americans.

GOING AFTER CANADIAN DESERTERS

Boston, Mass., April 28.—Wholesale arrests for desertion from the British and Canadian armies will be made in this country within a short time according to John P. Trout, British Vice Consul in this city, who has charge of the work of rounding up deserters. Mr. Trout, in an official statement issued tonight, declared that the term "deserter" applies not only to those men who have already been in uniform and have been army service, but also to those who registered under the compulsory service law and later crossed over the line or embarked overseas and failed to return to the home land when summoned to the colors.

"We have a most complete list of both classes of deserters from the British Army now prepared for all the New England district," says the statement, "and are ready at any moment to pounce upon several hundred of these men and send them to Canada under guard. Every deserter that we get will be immediately court-martialed on his return to Canada and sentenced to a term of imprisonment at hard labor for a period of from one to twenty years."

BRITISH CASUALTIES GROWING

(By Associated Press)
London, Sat.—Casualties in the British ranks reported this week totaled 18,350. The losses were divided as follows:
Killed or died of wounds—Officers, 405; men, 2,661.
Wounded or missing—Officers, 2,071; men, 14,218.

Despite the heavy fighting for more than a month past the British casualties reported are only now beginning to approach the high figures for week after week last year, when the British were on the offensive on the western front. The increase recently has been on the average of fifty per cent each week over the week preceding. Last week the aggregate was 12,356 and the week previous 8,223.

BRITISH AND FRENCH REPEL ATTACKS

(By Associated Press)
London, April 29.—Heavy tonight reports powerful attacks by Germans against French and British positions between Cleren and Zillebeke Lake. Today they were repulsed. The Germans losing heavily. British held also lately but at various points the Germans gained foothold. In French positions being later ejected from greater part. Belgians also repulsed heavy attacks inflicting severe casualties.

MOONEY DISCOURAGED STRIKE

(By Associated Press)

SHIP BUILDERS RESPONDING WELL

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 29.—American ship builders are responding to the speeding up program of the Shipping Board. In a week just ending 41,000 tons were launched, making a total of 1,195,000 tons since the building program started. 50,000 tons were delivered as finished ships during the past week and three steel ships of 18,000 ton and one wooden ship of 3500 tons were launched in one day.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let your sore, swollen, aching feet spread out in a bath of "Tiz."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, blisters-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive into that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like jumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. And how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

NO MORE KNITTED GOODS FOR SOLDIERS

The local Red Cross have received word that hereafter they are not to supply the drafted men called during the summer months with knitted goods other than socks. That after May first the knitted goods of the soldiers will be recalled and held for the winter wear.

The local Chapter have not much on hand at the present time, having fitted out the thirty-three men who left last week with complete outfits and there has been a diminishing line in the knitted goods. Socks are still very much in demand and the knitters are asked to devote their time to these.

The great demand that is being made for surgical dressings makes it imperative that every chapter bend every energy to this line of work. With the present great offensive of the Germans going on and the great number of men being treated at all of the hospitals, the demand has of course increased many folds. Everything ready is being shipped as fast as possible and every possible effort is being made to more than double the output of the Portsmouth Chapter. Monday all day long the work room was well filled and the Tuesday evening class will work Thursday of this week.

The preliminary arrangements are being perfected for the big fund drive to be opened on May 20th and everything will be in readiness to start the drive with a rush. The chairman of the various committees have been appointed and are getting down to work.

WILSON NAMES HEADS OF WAR FINANCE BOARD

Washington, April 29.—President Wilson today appointed four directors of the new $500,000,000 War Finance Corporation, and a new capital issues committee provided for in the War Finance Corporation Act. Directors of the corporation are William P. O. Harding of Alabama, Eugene Meyer Jr., of New York, Angus W. McLean of North Carolina. Members of the capital issues committee are: Charles S. Hamlin of Massachusetts, John Skelton Williams of Virginia, Frederic A. DeLoach of Illinois, James A. Brown of Kentucky, John S. Drum of California, Henry C. Flower of Missouri, Frederick H. Hoff of Ohio.

NEW CZAR FOR RUSSIA REPORTED

Copenhagen, April 27.—The Stockholm Aftenbladet says that definite reports have been received from Abo, Finland, that Grand Duke Alexis Nikolavitch, son of the former Emperor of Russia, has been proclaimed Emperor with Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch as regent. When Emperor Nicholas abdicated the Russian throne at midnight, March 15, 1917, he also renounced succession to the crown of his son, Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch. The next afternoon Grand Duke Michael himself abdicated, thus bringing the Romanoff dynasty to an end. Where the proclamation referred to was issued is not apparent from the Copenhagen dispatches.

CANADA HAS LOST 10 PERCENT OF HER FORCES

(By Associated Press)
Boston, April 28.—Of the 370,000 men Canada has sent overseas more than 40,000 have been killed in action or wounded mortally. That statement was made yesterday by Sir Robert Borden, Premier of Canada, at the Plaza Hotel.

The Premier said the spirit of the Dominion never was so high as at present and shipyards and recruiting offices were humming with activity.

"We are determined to carry on until the victory is won," he said, "and when you remember the awful sacrifices in men we have made since the war began you will understand readily that Canada is heart and soul in this conflict."

"Our conscription law and the doing away with exemptions has helped to rally more men to the colors, too, although I think there would have been no trouble in obtaining a large enough number of men without these measures."

Sir Robert said there was not a man in Canada "on" the western front who was not confident of victory.

The "bringing back to Canada of maimed and crippled men," he said, "is showing the people the bigger sacrifices."

Premier Borden said he could not make public the result of his conference at the Plaza yesterday afternoon with Sir Thomas White, Canadian Minister of Finance, and members of the British mission to the United States. A despatch from Ottawa Friday said it was believed the trip of Sir Robert was likely to be followed by the announcement of the establishment in the United States of a Canadian credit.

ALLOWED TO SEND MONEY

Washington, April 29.—Germany places no restrictions on the remittances of money for civilian and military prisoners in that country; the War Department has been informed by Pleasant A. Sioyall, the American minister at Berlin, who transmitted a note from the German war department received through the Spanish ambassador at Berlin. Minister Sioyall's message, made public yesterday, said:

The Spanish ambassador at Berlin has transmitted a note dated Feb. 15, 1918, from the German war department, stating that there are no restrictions in regard to the remittances of money for civilian and military prisoners. The money sent is placed to the prisoner's credit who may expend it freely with the following limitations:

"Military prisoners. (1) Sixty marks weekly may be spent by officers and other of similar rank; (2) fifty marks weekly by non-commissioned officers and men.

"Civilian prisoners. (1) Sixty marks weekly for men of better social position; (2) fifty marks weekly for others.

"With a view to obtaining particular articles the prisoners are allowed at any time to draw on their credit." All money sent to civilians and prisoners, the War Department announced, should be remitted through the bureau of prisoners' relief, American Red Cross, Washington, in the form of check or postal order payable to the American Red Cross.

WAR CONFERENCE

A war conference is to be held at Concord on Thursday, May 2, having been called by chairman John B. Jamieson and the N. H. Committee on public safety. It promises to be one of the most important gatherings held in N. H. since the war began.

This conference is one of a series of big get-together meetings being held all over the country under the auspices of the Committee on Public Safety of the various states. They are designed to bring together the officials of the war-war organizations of the state and prominent leaders in war activities, and have proved to be extremely useful, especially in fol-

The program as outlined will be a most interesting one—inspiring and instructive—and will include two sessions one in the forenoon at 11 o'clock, to be addressed by Major Rutledge Smith, representing the Council of National Defense, and by Mr. Arthur E. Bessler, Director of the Speaking Division of the Committee on Public Information at Washington, and one in the afternoon to be addressed by Mr. Frederick C. Walcott, representing the Federal Food Administration, of Mr. Hubert, and by Reverend Laughlin Maclean Watt, Chaplain of the Concord Highlanders.

FIGURES WERE DISAPPOINTING

Washington, April 29.—Subscriptions received last Friday, Liberty day, were estimated today at less than $200,000, and the treasury in a statement described this figure as disappointing. "It had been expected," said the statement, "that a much larger amount than this had been subscribed." A few new reports today raised the total of the sum at the opening of the first week in the campaign to $2,229,943.150.

Reports from committees today described an enthusiastic opening of the fund round-up. Special efforts were under way everywhere to raise the number of individual subscriptions from 2,500,000, the present total of bond buyers, to 20,000,000, the number asked by Secretary McAdoo.

BENEFIT DANCE DRAWS GOOD CROWD

The dancers were out in good numbers at Freeman's Hall on Monday evening for the benefit dance under the management of William H. Dow for the Red Cross.

There was a good number on the midnight, but the weather kept back the attendance. H. W. Masenfeld, Naval Reservist, was given a liberty bond.

TO HELP NEEDY GERMANS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 29.—With the approval and cooperation of the American government and the legations of Switzerland and Sweden representing the interest of Germany and Austria-Hungary, an undertaking has been started to give aid to the dependent alien enemy in this country, and the families. To the law abiding alien enemy aid will also be furnished if needed, both from the legation fund and the government.

Important Action Demanded.

Entirely reasonable is the action of the War Risk Bureau in requesting the War Department to rule as to when a soldier who has been reported "missing in action" shall be officially recorded as dead. Most of the soldiers are insured, and as no insurance can be paid until after a man has been officially recorded as dead some rule is necessary to prevent indefinite waiting on the part of beneficiaries in cases where soldiers disappear in action and are never again heard from.

As a result of this request Adjutant General McCain will be asked to fix a definite period which will mark the end of official hopes that a missing soldier may be found, and it is quite probable that he will adopt the Canadian system, under which a soldier is regarded as dead after he has been missing for six months. General Pershing recommends this course, which appears to be entirely reasonable and fair.

This is the first war in which provision was ever made for insurance of the lives of soldiers, and that it is a most excellent provision all must admit. The matter of settlement is simple enough in cases where the deaths of soldiers are known, whether they die in action or as the result of wounds or disease. But when a soldier goes into battle and is never seen or heard from again it is a different matter and his heirs should receive the benefit of the insurance within a reasonable time. And six months would seem to be plenty long enough to keep them waiting.

It is altogether probable that the necessary step will be taken without undue delay, as it should be, and yet when taking it the government should make provision to guard itself against loss through unusual circumstances or fraud. It is by no means impossible that a soldier might turn up after having been missing for six months or more. It is not to be expected that any man in the service would deliberately defraud the government by disappearing and remaining in hiding until after the insurance was paid, but in arranging for justice to the heirs of missing soldiers the government should take measures to insure itself against injustice.

This matter has been brought up in connection with the cases of the officer and 39 enlisted men who have been missing since the sinking of the Tuscania. There is no reason to doubt that they are all dead, and yet the insurance cannot be paid until their deaths have been officially recorded. It is proper that a time should be set for the making of such record, as will undoubtedly be done at an early day. At the same time provision should be made for rectification in case any man on whom insurance had been paid should later through any possibility be brought to light.

Congressman Britton Objects to Term "Slacker."

Representative Britton of Illinois has joined drives against the all too frequent use of the word slacker. He said that it was an outrage to class the reserves and officers now serving in Washington, many of them leaving important and lucrative positions to do so, as slackers. He further said:

"Some members seem to forget that the reserve officers are doing the most important work of the war—the maintaining of a line of communication 3,000 miles across the Atlantic. They are doing the same work here that is being done for England in London and for France in Paris and by the staff officers behind the trenches who are maintaining the lines of communication over there."

"If the men who are doing staff duty in Washington are to be called slackers, bomb-proof officers, slickers and so on, whether young or old, the administrative machinery of the War Department will fail. No one will want to be a part of the Ordnance or Quartermaster Corps because of the stigma so erroneously applied."

United States Senator Gallinger of this state, the minority leader, strongly resents some of the published criticisms of Congress and declares that body has been anything but a slacker in the prosecution of the war. The Democratic majority should appreciate this testimonial from one of the sturdiest of Republicans.

A car load of liquor shipped from Boston to Portland, Me., is in the hands of the federal authorities in the Pine Tree State. This prohibition business is subjecting many citizens to serious inconvenience. But think what the conditions will be if "bone dryness" ever becomes nation-wide.

The students of Dartmouth are no slackers when it comes to backing Liberty Loans. They have just subscribed $19,100, which, in the vernacular, is "going some."

This is the fish wardens' busy season.

Eight hundred and eighty-six members of the German nobility have been killed in battle, says an exchange. It hardly seems enough.

Women Not Evolutionary

In Denmark women voted for the first time, and, as has happened elsewhere, nothing happened. The ministry that has held power four years says in a while longer.

The War Party in Politics

(From the Chicago News)

"When Johnny comes marching home" he is going to have a great deal to say about running the country and he will know the records of all those who seek office or favor. Here is food for thought for those who now are lukewarm in political, financial and moral support of the war for democracy.

An Immediate Necessity

(From the New York Commercial)

Our entire tariff system needs revision to the end it may encourage and protect whatever foreign trade we acquire. To insure the United States manufacturer of this absolutely necessary aid to foreign trade and to prevent us as a nation being discriminated against in overseas markets Congress should, without delay, pass a law providing for a flexible or bargaining tariff.

They're Quick on the Trigger

(From the New York World)

If the dead Italian defendant in the Federal Court at San Francisco had been less a stranger to the way they shoot on extreme provocation in judicial circles on the Pacific Coast, he might have been less ready in the use of his own gun. The name of United States Marshal James P. Mahoney, whose deadly bullet reached its mark over the shoulders of surrounding attorneys, is now to be linked with that of Deputy United States Marshal David Neagle, at whose first fire, nearly thirty years ago, ex-Judge Terry fell dead as he was about to assault Justice Stephen J. Field of the United States Supreme Court.

When the Greeks Get Started

(From the New York Herald)

The first move of the Greeks when they at last get into the war is to reconquer eastern Macedonia, which was surrendered to Bulgaria by the treaty of King Constantine. That country was the scene of wholesale massacre of Greeks by Bulgars in the second Balkan war of 1913 and of the shameful surrender of an entire division of Greek troops in 1916. It is safe to predict that, when they remember these wrongs, the Greeks will show small mercy to their enemies.

After German "Boxers"

(From the New York Commercial)

Chinese laborers, apparently without military training, but under the direction of American engineers, gave a good account of themselves at Montdidier when rifles were thrust in their hands by wounded English soldiers. "Chinese" Gordon put Chinese troops to the test and found them as steadfast as white soldiers when properly led. China is one of our allies and may become an important military factor if the war lasts five years longer. The Chinese have not forgotten the brutality of the Germans during the Boxer Rebellion. The memory of it is now selling Liberty Bonds to Chinese in New York city. Perhaps Chinese troops will go to Berlin as the Prussians went to Peking.

Habits That Give Long Life

(From the Chicago News)

At the age of eighty-one years John Burroughs, the naturalist, now in Chicago, devotes a part of each day to cutting wood with an axe. In this act may be detected something more than a mere means of maintaining physical soundness. It is, indeed, indicative of the admirable simplicity that surrounds the daily life of a man who has beautifully translated nature into literature—the simplicity that contributes very materially to contentment.

Real sacrifices, it is expected, will be asked of the American people before the war is over. At the present moment the alleged sacrifices consist mainly in giving up some of the softening luxuries to which they have become accustomed. When they have given up far more they may attain to the simplicity of life achieved by John Burroughs. And it may be hoped that they will become so enamored of it that they will not wish to dispense with it after the war is ended.

The Migrating Oysters

(From the Hartford Courant)

Last summer and the summer before that as well as in more remote seasons the oyster growers or "growers" of Connecticut have told the public that the oyster "set" has been a complete failure. Sometimes this has been due to alleged excessive taxation, sometimes to impurities in the water and sometimes to acts of Providence not clearly defined but always the result has been the same, a total failure of the set and the impending extinction of the oyster industry.

Now, with feelings of surprise, the public or a part of it may find the following item in the Bridgeport news papers.

At least twenty-five carloads of seed oysters are to be shipped this spring from Norwalk and Bridgeport to Seattle, Wash., for planting in the waters of Puget Sound and bays around Washington and Oregon. These oysters are being shipped by the Ralston Oyster Company of this city, two carloads being sent this morning.

This is a marvelous thing, for no longer ago than last summer the oyster set was a complete failure and yet the growers are now blithely shipping 25 carloads of this same set across the continent to seed the Pacific coast or a small section of it. Perhaps some of the New Haven growers will explain this situation.

"Follow the Good Impulse"

(From "Current Topics of the Town" in the Philadelphia Public Ledger)

A friend of both men tells me the story.

William H. Page, now our ambassador in England, said to Edward Bok some years ago: "Do you ever write a letter to a man who does a conspicuously meritorious thing?"

On the spot they entered into a compact to try it.

At a famous New York church Mr. Bok heard a sermon that stirred him. He promptly wrote to the pastor, telling him so.

About six months later he went to the same church again. An official met him. "Are you Mr. Bok, of Philadelphia?" "Yes," "Well, sir, I want to tell you about the letter you wrote to our pastor. As it happened, it reached him on a 'blue Monday.' He was sitting in his study discouraged. 'He had almost reached the conclusion that his ministry was a failure. 'Your letter came and it changed not merely his day but his decision. It gave him a new heart of grace to go on.'"

Said the man who told me the story: "Both Mr. Page and Mr. Bok have derived incalculable happiness from their plan. This results have more than justified it. Never frown down a good impulse. If you fail to act on it at once, it may initialize you for months."

The Navy

(From the New York Herald)

In these hours, when delays and disappointments in preparedness are giving place to promises of success, it may be permitted to venture a sentence or two in commendation of a service that so far has never failed us. With such smoothness and efficiency, and so silently, do naval affairs seem to move that it is only at some rare moment of unusual stress that any clue is disclosed to the tireless labor and unceasing watchfulness demanded and surely exercised. All that the country may grasp are certain results after the fact, and then only by indirection as these later through reported achievements, most of which are possessed of the elements of happy surprise.

The curtain lifts and falls; vessels of all classes come and go, from battle ships breathing any seas to frigate patrol craft that arrive outward safe and sound, despite all fear and warring expectation. Convoyed transports (ship their contingents, stand out into the hush of the night, and after a period so brief as to seem impossible are up and away for their home ports. As yet no American conveyed transport has been responsible for the loss of a single soldier. It is, indeed, of record that within a month one of these troop ships—what a pity she must be nameless!—slipped by Sandy Hook Light, disappeared into the unknown and within a fair fortnight lifted the Highlands of Navarin and fought, unconscious of particular achievement, a quiet anchorage in the Hudson.

And all this and very much more are the supreme results of a permanent service and of a great naval school—fellow principles—where the unquenched torch of tradition and effort has without parade or ceremony been passed down with certainty to the youngsters now become the elders. Make no mistake, naval efficiency in this war, as in all our wars, is the work of its trained officers, with the valuable though at times belated collaboration of administrative officials. And next to these officers and administrators comes Congress; for it must be a surety or an ignorant curmudgeon that fails to recognize the splendid co-operation of the House and the Senate and the eagerness of both to grant and sustain all that could be expected of them.

Remedies For the Coal Situation

(From the Chicago News)

Disputing rumors are in circulation indicating the possibility of another temporary industrial shutdown in the near future to enable the fuel and railroad administrations to relieve the growing congestion in eastern freight yards. These rumors may lack substantial foundation, but undeniably the coal situation is becoming more and more serious.

The trouble is twofold. In the first place consumers are hanging back and neglecting to fill their coal bins. Aside from the consumers' apathy, there is the failure to furnish a sufficient number of coal cars to the mines. Coal cars are being used for the transportation of other kinds of freight, and to this factor should be added widespread "piggyback" loading freight cars promptly and release them for further service. Tens of thousands of freight cars are tied up by reason of mere delay in unloading nonessential commodities.

(From the Kansas City Star)

Quatemala hasn't formally declared war against the Central Powers, but it has announced that it occupies the same position regarding them as that occupied by the United States. It is believed Germany will find this sufficiently explicit.

Who Remembers Our "Stone Fleet?"

(From the New Bedford Standard)

They did not have concrete in Civil War times, and had to use field stone instead, but otherwise the British navy's venture off Ostend and Zeebrugge was the same as that of the United States when it sent the stone fleet to be sunk in the entrance of southern ports during the rebellion. Sir Eric Geddes reports that the entrance to the Bruges Canal has been effectively blocked. It can be repeated and the home ports of the submarines closed. It will be worth any number of old whips.

Better team work between the fuel and railroad administrations is urgently needed, but this alone will not avert a coal scarcity or famine next winter. The problem is one that each community should attack locally to the extent of its ability and opportunity. Industrial and commercial organizations, especially in railroad and manufacturing centers should organize special committees to investigate the situation and secure prompt unloading of freight by regular reports and appropriate disciplinary measures. The same organization should urge consumers of coal, large or small, to order their coal without further delay.

Intelligent and energetic action at this time by business bodies in the directions indicated will avert heatless days and idle industries next winter.

Revolt of the Archdukes

(From the New York Times)

To commentators of the Hapsburg, said is the reading of that Vienna despatch to the Berliner Tageblatt which shows the members of the Imperial House, Archdukes august, expensive, and numerous, gathered at the house of one of them, and after doubtless pontifical deliberations, intrusting him with the task of giving what some of the American college dons call "a private admonition" to the Head of the House, the Emperor Charles, "the sudden," as the cynical Viennese style him. To him must be the private admonisher's diatribe on "the prejudicial consequences which the activities of members of the House of Bourbon de Parma residing abroad might have for the interests of the House of Hapsburg-Lorraine."

O dear Sigmund! O illustrious man-in-law! O Parmesan and Bourbon! What a thing it is to get the letter-writing habit, and to have a large lot of Bourbon-Parmesan relatives by marriage! Emperor Charles is but too used to resistors and rebels; Italians, Czechs, Slovaks, Slovians, Poles, Serbs-Groats—long is the list. Those resistors and rebels are mostly plebeians. How heart-breaking must it be to find a mutiny in one's own House, to be stabbed from the palace purple, to have one's private manager of Archdukes Rick and bite their master! If any consciousness of mundane things lingers in the ghost of Francis Joseph, how violently must that ghost be gibbering! Read this from Mr. Wickham Stead's "Hapsburg Monarchy" (1914)

As regards the authority of the Emperor over the members of the Imperial and Royal House, it seems likely to remain in future as absolute as in the past. No one who has seen the Emperor Francis Joseph drill a dozen Archdukes at the reception of a foreign sovereign causing them to line up like a company of recruits, can doubt that his authority over them is unquestioned. Serious misbehavior on the part of an Archduke is sometimes punished by exile to a distant province, even if the offender be the Emperor's own brother. Other Archdukes have been brusquely sent back to their garrison towns for having appeared to court popularity in the capital; not even the most insubordinate of Archdukes—and there have been some whose reverence for the Emperor left something to be desired—has hitherto ventured to make public opposition to the Head of the House.

Other times, another Emperor—once a humble, docile Archduke—other, and what distressing bad Archducal manners!

Liquor to Men in Uniform.

(New York Herald)

It is stated that the army, the District Attorney's forces and the Police Department will tomorrow redouble their efforts to prevent the sale of liquor to soldiers and sailors in uniform and to detect and punish all who violate the law.

While the men are permitted to freely enter places where liquor is sold and seat themselves at the tables where these are provided, it is difficult to prevent them from surreptitiously receiving a glass of intoxicant from some malevolent or misguided acquaintance.

If the city is to be made bone dry for the men in uniform the only effective method would seem to be to keep them out of places in which liquor is dispensed. Permitting men who have a weakness for intoxicants to spend their time in such places opens the door to possible evasion of the law.

Make all premises on which liquor is sold taboo to the men in uniform. This will be a hardship to a great many of them who never touch liquor at any time, but it is a hardship they will cheerfully bear for the good of the service for the sake of their weaker colleagues.

A Big Gun—Made in the U. S. A.

(From the Pittsburgh Gazette Times)

It is not expedient for any outside official circles to know anything of the big cannon, just finished in a Delaware River munitions factory except that, in the words of Samuel M. Yachnin, it is "the greatest engine of destruction that has yet been produced in artillery by the great war." But if his statement is accurate, and there is no reason to judge it otherwise, it is sufficient for the public who will be content to await the outcome with confidence. Nor can we know whether the gun will be employed for coast defense or transported across the seas to give the apostles of frightfulness a dose of their own medicine, but we hope the latter will prove its ultimate mission. The Germans are comfortable creatures and do not like to be disturbed; residents of cities near the French border would take a mysterious bombardment with far less complacency than the people of Paris or London. Their approval of shells dropped from on high embraces only those sent, not those received, as proved by the uneasiness of the Badenese over a visit of our airplane. So for the "moral effect" it will have, we hope the big American gun will soon be on its way.

For This Much Thanks

(From the New York World)

Among the twenty-nine persons found guilty in San Francisco of conspiracy to violate the neutrality of the United States were the former German consul general, the German vice consul and a number of other German consular officers and attaches. Altogether seven Germans were convicted. For this further demonstration of the good faith and law-abiding character of the Kaiser's official representatives in the United States before it entered the war the people of this country should be eternally grateful.

The Tempting of America.

(From the Living Church)

The American nation stood, a year and more ago, on a high eminence and beheld all the kingdoms of the world and the glory of them. It was an exceedingly intoxicating vision. The gold of the world was pouring into its coffers. Factories were working to their utmost capacity and wages were very high. The national supply of millionaires was being greatly multiplied. Shortly ahead loomed the vision of America dominating the world's markets; of Wall street controlling the destinies of all nations; of the American dollar the world standard, and the wealth of the world centered within our borders. It was a most alluring picture. "All these things I will give thee," was being whispered in the American ear. "If thou wilt fall down and worship me." The principle of Plutonium said, Yes. Profit and Socialism and pro-Enemy interests all said, Yes. The Society of Friends is saying, Yes. It was the Christian conscience of the nation, despising the comforts of peace, throwing away the results of profiteering, repudiating a false conception of Christianity, defying the combination of Socialism and Kaiserism, moving hand in hand, that said, Get thee behind me, Satan! It was the Christian conscience of the nation that preferred abstinence and perhaps poverty, that sent the nation's sons to war and pledged the heart of the nation at home to sustain them. And in these awful days when the power of evil is slowly pressing back the armies of God and of righteousness on the western front, because Huns have surrendered to the principle of Quakerism plus Socialism plus Kaiserism, and there is little left that we in America can do except pray and redouble our efforts to get men and supplies across the water, it is the knowledge that we are fighting for God that sustains us; that the light that our own men are making beside the men of France and of England and of Belgium is offered, in a mighty groan of suffering, as the world's prayer to Almighty God; Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven; Use us, we pray Thee, as the foundation upon which to build Thy kingdom; accomplish, through us, Thy will on earth. Thus shall we be content.

To inform the women of the neighborhood of the approach of the hour for worship is one of the objects of a vigilance committee organized in certain Lutheran mission stations in India, a band where clocks are few. Another object is to see that the women are properly dressed for the service.

Mrs. John Nordloh of Posey township, Ind., who has been saving for several years to erect a new home on her farm, decided to do it this year, but when she was visited by the Liberty Loan Drivers she decided to wait for her new home and turned all the money into Liberty bonds.

China had women soldiers long before they were known in Russia. During the Tiao Ping rebellion, 1850, women as well as men served in the ranks. In Nankin, in 1853, an army of 500,000 women was recruited. They were divided into brigades of 13,500 each and were commanded by women officers.

FRENCH LINER UNSUCCESSFULLY ATTACKED

An Atlantic liner, April 29—A large French liner carrying 285 passengers, which arrived Monday was unsuccessfully attacked by a submarine at 7 p. m., when two days out from a French port.

The torpedo passed astern and the merchantman gave battle. Cruisers conveying the liner joined in the fight and the U-boat fled with several of the war ships in pursuit.

"All of us had life preservers handy," one of the passengers said "and there was but little excitement and no confusion."

"We learned that a torpedo passed the stern of our ship at a distance of about 30 yards and soon after a periscope was visible approximately 500 yards in front. Four shots were fired from our deck guns and several more from a convoying destroyer, which also dropped a couple of depth bombs. The shock from the explosion of the bombs was plainly felt on board the steamer."

DEFINITE START MADE ON HOUSING

A definite start on the housing proposition for the ship yard workers for the Atlantic Corporation was made on Monday at the meeting of the local committee and the committee of experts from Washington at the Mayor's office.

The Board of Public Works were called in, as well as Manager Reiden of the Rockingham Light and Power Co. and Manager Seybold of the Gas Company. It is understood that the work is to be started in a very short time.

"RIGHT CONDUCT IN DANCING"

Miss Conant of War Camp Community Service Talks Before Girls' League.

Miss Esther Conant of the War Camp Community Service gave a talk at the meeting of the Girls' Patriotic League, Monday evening, her subject being "The Right Conduct in Dancing." The meeting was public and held in the North Church chapel, the attendance including not only a large number of League members, but mothers of the girls and others interested in the welfare of the organization.

Miss Conant began her talk by saying that the women and girls of the nation have a great work to do in the war; that it is just as much their war and they must back up the men in the navy blue and the khaki. She said so much is heard about the men going to the front, but the women and girls on this side should be on the United States front and do all possible to aid in this great cause.

Miss Conant told of community service and of some of the work in a recent line done for the enlisted men at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass.

Miss Conant is a teacher of dancing and has charge of some of the community service work for the enlisted men.

She explained to her audience that these young men who have gone into the service for their country's cause need entertainments planned for them to aid in keeping them in good health and spirits. She told the League members that the main point to remember when dances were given for the enlisted men was that they were hostesses and the idea was to make their young men guests enjoy the occasion, the war having changed conditions when a young girl went to a dance altogether for her own enjoyment. Dancing, she said, is just a reflection of life around it and dancing can be made artistic and beautiful or otherwise, it depending so much on the conduct of the dancer.

She advocated the simple style of dress at dances for young women and told them that to be always on the first line in the community service is one of the best things girls and women can do. Dancing, she said, should never be made a mud wall and young women should not encourage poor music or extravagant dress at a dance.

In speaking of dances given for enlisted men by groups of girls in community service work, Miss Conant told of the success attained. She spoke of such work being done at Ayer, by Wellesley and other college students, by units in Revere, Mass., and other places in the vicinity of Boston and said "hundreds of fine young women had signed up to see this sort of thing done for the soldiers and sailors. These men are away from home and relatives and still young and the women of the country must use to the occasion and help these lads get some recreation when off duty. Miss Conant said it was a pleasing thing to note how this community service had developed character in the young women and the responsibility they felt in trying to make these lads enjoy the parties and dances given in their behalf. She explained also that older women were always present at the dances as chaperones. She also illustrated the dancing position now taken as the standard.

Three definite aims were brought out by Miss Conant in the right conduct in these dances: first, the social point of view, second the music, third, the dancing position and fourth, simplicity in dress.

As our country is in this terrible war, Miss Conant urged the young people to follow the simple styles of dress from a patriotic standpoint if from no other. We are asked to conserve food, to live simply and extravagant dress is not in keeping with the spirit of the times.

The Girls' Patriotic League last evening voted to adopt the standard set by Miss Conant in regard to dancing, the social point of view, the music, dancing position, and simplicity in dress.

The speaker told the League members that she hoped their dancing parties would be supplemented by hospital work among the enlisted men, as some of the lads did not dance. She suggested dramatization as a line of work which should find favor among the young people.

Miss Conant proved a most entertaining speaker and interspersed her talk with many amusing incidents and at its close was heartily applauded.

After the talk popular songs were rendered by the gathering.

The Girls' Patriotic League has decided to conform to the rule of simplicity in dress at its ball to be held tomorrow evening in the Armory.

P. A. C. MINSTRELS DATES, MAY 14 AND 15.

The two performances of the Portsmouth Athletic Club minstrels will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 14 and 15, instead of on the 13th and 14th, as previously announced. This show will be put on in the "big way" that has characterized their previous endeavors, and nothing will be lacking to make it at once a proud, peerless and perfect production in modern minstrelsy. The company is sixty strong and includes many of the old favorites in both comedies and ballads, besides some clever performers whose faces will be new to our old patrons. "The Settlement" will be novel, the ballads beautiful, the songs droll and of the "new" variety, and the "end business" mirth-provoking and abounding in clever repartee. Lovers of this form of entertainment and their name is legion, will find their highest expectations realized in this latest effort of Portsmouth's biggest amusement producing organization, the Portsmouth Athletic club. The entire net proceeds will be given to the local unit of the Red Cross Association and the theatre should and undoubtedly will be crowded to the doors at both performances. Portsmouth theatre, (Musie Hall), Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 14 and 15. Prices, 35c, 50c, 75c, $1.

DON'T CALL THEM "BOYS"

J. M. Marce, first sergeant, U. S. Army, retired, has sent to the War and Navy Department's Commission on Training Camp Activities a memorial protest against calling our soldiers "boys." He insists on their right to the title of "men." In an accompanying letter he says: "I am only a practical soldier, and apologize for lack of education, but says: 'To me and my kind the verses express all there is in the question.' The verses follow: Why do the people of our country so persist in calling us 'boys' after we enlist. What's the meaning of a 'boy'? To real soldiers, it sounds so toy. Please, call us 'men' in the future, we insist."

It sounds so militia-like to hear of soldier "boys" Snacks of politics, brass bands and lots of noise. The "boys" should be in training, to pile up lots of sand. And they'll go over the top, yes, every day. When they get to be a man.

A calf is not a cow, nor a pig is not a hog. A cat is not a horse, nor a pup is not a dog.

A quail is not a pigeon, nor a kitten's not a cat. So call us "men" while mother's knitting. Please remember that.

A word to our people of this great democracy: It's up to you with plenty, to go hand-in-hand with me. Remember, I do the fighting all 'round the bloody ponds. You do the LIBERTY buying And grab up Uncle's BONDS.

SCIENTIFIC BREATHING, LUNG DEVELOPMENT.

The opening lecture in the Chautauqua Health course was given last night in the Middle Street Baptist church by J. C. Elliott before an enthusiastic audience. The subject of the lecture today at 2:30 will be The Secret of Health and Preservation of the Body. The subject Tuesday 7:45 will be Scientific Breathing for Health and Development of Lung Capacity. Mr. Elliott says "We have 600,000 deaths annually from pulmonary diseases, practically all of them preventable deaths. The average individual is starving for oxygen. The average chest expansion is below three inches. Health demands at least four or five inches. A series of health culture exercises with actual demonstrations in chest expansion will be given in the lecture Tuesday night. No child can inherit tuberculosis of the lung. They may inherit a weak lung but this may be made strong just the same as a weak muscle can be made strong. The subject of the lecture Wednesday at 2:30 will be Foods and Nutrition and the subject Wednesday 7:45 will be Dangers of an Abnormal Food Supply.

"Disease does not belong to our bodies in many instances it is little less than a crime. Modern methods of life are little less than slow suicide to thousands of individuals. Millions find complete wreckage of health and life before they reach fifty years of Age. A fifty year deadline for the hustlers and professional man or woman, and for the latter, is the crime of the age. Men should be in his prime at fifty and have a quarter of a century of efficient service after that age. Goodstone said that I cared for my body as well as I cared for my brain. I could have been in my prime at one hundred. Prevention of disease is the dominant note of the hour.

Training and Efficiency

Our nation is expending millions in training our soldiers for health and efficiency, in containment, on the high seas, and in the trenches. Many ex-ploding boards have had to exclude 60 percent of drafted men for physical inefficiency. France did the same thing but she placed her physically unfit in training and out of them has drawn an army of 150,000 men annually since the opening of the war. Conservation of food means prevention of disease for the masses. We can comply with all conditions of our government in conservation of the food and build health at the same time.

The cost situation has been greatly relieved by the arrival of two barges of hard coal.

LAST DAY BEFORE THE DROUGHT

Local Liquor Dealers Practically Cleared Out of Stock, and There Will Be No Closing Bargains

Today is the last day before the drought in this city which must last for at least two years and possibly longer. The saloons of all shades must close their places of business by eleven o'clock tonight and at that time practically every one will have closed out everything in stock.

Monday there was very little of certain brands of goods to be secured and the person who waited for the last day with the idea of bargains is liable to be fooled. There are absolutely no low grade whiskeys in the city and very little of the high grade bottled in bond goods, and what there is is bringing big prices.

There may be a few bargains on the light wines and cordials and odds and ends, but they have been pretty well cleared in the past week. Saturday was a very heavy day and the local dealers had about all they could attend to. Nobody will attempt to carry over any stock that they will not have ready for shipment by tonight and in every way the dealers are going to comply with the law as they have in the past week closing exactly on time and in every way living up to the rules.

It does not look like a dry spell here for some time from the amount of bottled goods that has been sold for private use. Tomorrow the new law goes into effect and it will be strictly enforced in this city.

SHOULD NOT UNDER-RATE U. S. HELP

London, April 29.—There has been noticeable of late, says an editorial in the Times, "a tendency to question the value of American assistance in the great struggle, or at least its arrival in time to prove of real value before the crisis of the present struggle is past. This was perhaps only to be expected as the inevitable reflux of the first tide of optimism with which America's entry into the war was greeted and the extravagant expectations of its early effect, which were then built upon that event."

"Since these last have failed to materialize their builders have insisted to cast the blame on America rather than confess their unwarranted assumptions and, swinging over to the other extreme, now seek to minimize rather than render justice to undeniable American achievements. Early assurances that our American allies would make their presence felt in the air first of all are also recalled, and we are asked to compare these fond hopes with the unsatisfactory fulfillment of American promises in this regard."

"Reminders will not be without their value if they increase our determination to put forth every ounce of effort of which we are capable and if they convince each of us that the surest way to win the war is to do all they can towards winning it themselves, leaving nothing which can be done individually to be done by others, and above all, by refraining from hampering the labors of our friends by unhelpful criticism. We have grumbled sufficiently at our own achievements to realize that the path of war preparation in the United States must be obstructed with at least as many difficulties as our own has been and still is."

"If we have been dissatisfied with our own rate of progress we may be very sure that our American friends have been equally dissatisfied with theirs, and that, true to their national character, they have been even less sparing in criticism. Since we have had to deplore literally our own unpreparedness for the struggle which was forced upon us, we cannot refuse to recognize that America was even less prepared than ourselves, nor to admit that she has been quicker than we to acknowledge that performance cannot be made to jump simultaneously with project."

"The suggestion that America has failed to fulfill her promises up to the full cannot fall to arouse her. She feels now that she must do more than justify them and we may rest assured that she will not only do so, but will do so of much earlier date than any one has seriously expected."

ON THE DIAMOND

If the value of a southpaw is debatable, the official averages of the National League show conclusively that the managers in the old circuit have no doubt about their use.

The records show that no less than thirty-one pitchers worked in the National, probably the largest number ever gathered together under one tent during a season.

Only a little over half of this number were pitchers. In all, the best worked in the outfield or on first base.

One manager, Fred Mitchell, could have put an entire southpaw outfield into the field had he wished to do so. Williams, Walter and Black, all throwing from the left side.

The advantages of left handed pitchers has long been well known. In the days when they were scarce, they could usually be counted on to foul the batters with curves which broke down the opposite to that of the right handers. As the game progressed some batters learned to hit left handed pitchers as they would be especially effective against left handed pitching. This also added speed in the hands of fast batters as they gained a couple of steps in getting away from the plate of a left hander.

A few years ago the switching of batters to right pitchers when a southpaw was substituted for a right hander was figured out.

Joe Jacobs, 1314 West Broadway Manager

Stallings originated the idea of switching batters to meet pitchers with both left and right handed outfielders, the use of which depended upon the pitcher who opposed the team. Although Stallings did not have a leading outfielder on his club, the aggregate offensive strength of his club was much enhanced by this switching.

Bill Carrigan and later Jack Barry used Del Gainer and Dick Hoblitzel at first base, the latter against right-handed pitchers, the former against the southpaws.

In the last world's series both McGraw and Rowland switched to meet the change of pitchers.

Rowland used John Collins in left field until the second game. When Derritt, a right hander was substituted for Schupp, he sent in Lobdell for the balance of the game. McGraw used Thorne on a change of White Sox pitchers.

Left handers have always been wonders at first base. Some of the greatest initial success of today have had but from the port side. Witness Hal Chase, Jake Daubert, George Sizer, and Walter Holke.

Manager Higgins of the New York Yankees believes that Ray Caldwell's arm will be ready in a few days and then he will be able to use the veteran every four days. A team is badly handicapped with its best baseman on the shelf, particularly a team so lacking in pitchers as the Yanks.

Sunday ball is a heinous offense in New York and is a legitimate entertainment in New Jersey, proving that the difference between right and wrong is merely a matter of transportation.

Percy Haughton, president of the Boston Braves who made his name as an athletic director when coaching the Harvard University football squad may go to France later in the year to take charge of athletic work in the army over there for the V. M. C. A. If he does he will pay special attention to developing army football next fall.

The Type Used in One Year to Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty-five thousand benefited people testify to this in the newspapers at their own towns. Forty-five thousand American newspapers publish this house proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 50,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Portsmouth sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Portsmouth case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

D. J. Holland, Barber, 18 Vaughan street, says: "From being on my feet continually, my back became very stiff and lame. Sharp pains ran through my kidneys and caused me intense suffering. I used Doan's Kidney Pills on a friend's advice and had excellent results. They corrected the action of my kidneys and relieved the pain."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy, but Doan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mr. Holland had. Foster-McMillan Co., Mfgs. Buffalo, N. Y.

SPORT NOTES OF INTEREST

In the roughest wrestling match ever staged in the state of Maine, John Kilonis of Manchester and Peter Goulette of Wiscasset, went an hour to draw a Lewiston Saturday night in the semi-final, Pat McCarthy of Boston won from the Unknown, taking the first and third falls. The sport writer of the Lewiston Sun has the following on the Kilonis-Goulette match:

"Both men tried everything in the wrestling calendar, and when that failed they went into the realm of prize fighting, roller polo and trench warfare. A description of the bout would read about as follows: Kilonis stepped on Goulette's head, Goulette kicked his opponent in the right eye, then the left, whereupon Kilonis let a junk out of Goulette's foot. Goulette, whaled Kilonis where he shouldn't, the Greek responding by bawling Goulette's head on the floor three times, then grabbing a handful of sawdust and jamming it in Goulette's eyes and mouth. More description would be simply a repetition of the dirty work. Some of the spectators didn't think the men were or not in earnest. Whether they were or not it can be said that the show was the greatest thing to the 'money' world, that has taken place in the wrestling game in this neck of the woods for some time."

Many of the local boxing fans would like to see Soldier Grady of Port Constitution matched with Jack Mays of the U.S. Pueblo. The Rockingham A. C. recently matched Grady with a well known Boston middleweight, but the club man upon learning his opponent was to be Grady, decided he did not want to box. Grady is well known among the professional boxers, having earned decisions over Clite West, Johnny Glover, Joe Eagan, and the late Mike Glover. Mays is a capable performer and is rated as the best middleweight in the city. He holds a win over Pink Granite of the Frederick, having stopped the latter in five rounds. The Pueblo also boasts of another fast boxer, Sallor Treux, 145 pounds, who may appear before the local club at a late date.

Much interest is being shown in the Sunset League and several ball players (from other cities, now employed in Portsmouth, have applied at The Herald office in regard to getting on with any of the various teams.

Coach Carney of the Exeter baseball team has a "find" in Harold Gill of Rockport, who appears to be the best twirler at Exeter since the days of Clayton Welles in 1914. The bulk of the pitching will be done by Gill although he has an able substitute in Edward Good of Roxbury. The nine will receive a severe test this week when it meets the Harvard Rats team Wednesday and the Camp Devens team Saturday.

Cyclone Ross of New York has been matched to meet Lewis Decker, the western star, in the preliminary to the Pink Gardner, Prof. Malafort bout at the Grand Opera House, Boston, Thursday night.

The local high school ball team will play Deering High next Saturday afternoon in this city. This will be their last game on the home grounds for some time, the next three games being out of town. "Jack" Dow, who has been officiating as umpire in a satisfactory manner, will again hold the indicator next Saturday.

Hans Furst will attempt to accomplish tonight what few wrestlers in the country have succeeded in doing—pin Cyclone Burns' shoulders to the mat. Furst is a real wrestler and should be able to give Burns a good go, but if Cyclone is in his usual good condition, Hans in all probability will hit the mat.

The members of the baseball team of the U. S. S. Pueblo have been getting in a little practice at the local yard and the manager announces that his team will soon be ready to take on any of the teams in this section.

In their recent match in Boston, John Kilonis lost to Pink Gardner on a foul. In plain words John was too "rough" and the match was awarded to Gardner. This gives them an opportunity to do it all over again and we may look for the event in about a week.

Archie Bush, probably the most famous of college baseball players, for more than the first decade the game was played in our colleges, was a member of the first Phillips Andover nine. He was captain of the Harvard nine in 1879-80 and in that time his team lost only one game to an amateur or college nine. A glance at the box scores of the four games in which he played against Yale, all won by Harvard, reveals the fact that Bush made 14 hits or better than three to a game.

Dartmouth has not a single "D" track athlete for intercollegiate sport this season.

BOXING NOTES

While Langford has been fined $100 and barred from Ohio by the Toledo

The boxing center of New England seems to have shifted from Boston to New Haven, where the promoters are said to have handed $2500 each to Lew Tendler and Willie Jackson for their part in Monday night's entertainment.

The bout between Dave Astor, former amateur champion of New York state and Jimmy Wilde of England, the flyweight champion of the world has been postponed until September 2 in the Liverpool stadium.

Johnny Wilson, the Boston middleweight isn't finding it an easy matter to get bouts. When some of the local promoters are approached in regard to meeting Johnny, they are right there with the excuse. It seems that none of them care about taking the chance of being knocked cold. Wilson has issued a defi to any man of his weight in the game and among others mentions Joe Dugan, Tommy Robson, and Harry Greb.

The matchmaker of the Unity Cycle Club of Lawrence has announced the following card for the meeting Thursday night: Al Shubert, New Bedford, and Dutch Bradt, Brooklyn, 12 rounds; Harry Young, Roxbury and Kid Francis, Providence, eight rounds. Shubert and Bradt have agreed to weigh in at 122 pounds (inside).

WRESTLING BOUT THIS EVENING

The wrestling bout this evening between Hans Furst and Cyclone Burns should be of the top notch variety. Burns can be depended upon to do his full share and what has been seen of Furst in this city and reports from all over the country indicate that Burns will have a hard full-throated him.

FORDS

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

It is now necessary to ship all Ford cars over the road to the dealers. This is necessary because of freight conditions together with the shortage of material and the delay in transportation. Ford cars will be at a premium before the summer is over. We have just received a shipment of cars from the assembling plant at Buffalo and they are now ready for delivery. These cars have all been run just far enough to take the stiffness out of the motors and are in the best of condition. Buy your car today and save delay. In the near future you will be unable to buy a Ford at any price owing to the shortage of cars.

CANTEEN SERVICE APPRECIATED

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, April 29.—Tired and travel worn, dust begrimed from long, tedious hours spent in packed coaches, soldiers of the United States traveling through this city are being cheered most effectively by the "canteen service" of the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Steaming coffee, sandwiches prepared by mothers many of whose sons are in France, chocolates, home-made cookies, magazines, books and tobacco—all these are given to the traveling troops.

For several months the service has been conducted under secret orders. The Red Cross belts notified an hour in advance of the arrival of all trains carrying boys in khaki. Members of the unit are the only persons in Chicago, informed in this manner of the movement of the soldiers.

Women of such note have been most active in this volunteer work. The success of the service is attested by the erection, now under way, of the "Triple A" building, which will become the headquarters of the unit.

Distribution of food, toiletries, tobacco and reading matter, however, is not the entire scope of the unit. Service is the watchword. Postcards are supplied the men that they may write home. Messages are taken and promptly attended to by members of the unit. Many soldiers give the workers telephone numbers to call for a friendly "hello" to acquaintances and relatives.

When word is received of the imminent arrival of a troop train, automobiles the use of which is given for

ANXIOUS TO GET INTO BATTLE

An Atlantic Port, April 29.—A commission named by Governor McCall of Massachusetts, to go to France, to investigate and make a report on the soldiers and sailors from that state now on the fighting line, arrived here today on a French steamer. The commission, consisting of Charles S. Baxter, Dr. John W. Coughlin and former Lieutenant Governor Louis A. Frothingham, has been abroad for two months and was in Paris when the German drive began.

They said they found the Massachusetts soldiers, like all other contingents of the American forces, in "wonderful physical condition." According to Mr. Baxter the attitude of the men toward the prospect of getting into the fight is like that of a football team on the eve of a championship game. The commissioners were received by General Pershing and by officials of the French Government and were given every possible convenience to visit the men and to watch their training.

Mr. Baxter said that during the first week of the German drive, a large number of civilians left the city for safety, but that the apprehension of the people was short lived. The commission also visited the church which was hit by the long range German guns.

A detailed report of their trip will be made to Governor McCall.

DECORATE 122 AMERICANS IN FRANCE

With the American Army in France, April 29 (Associated Press).—The French army yesterday paid an historic tribute to the United States when 122 soldiers, sons of Massachusetts, were decorated with the war cross for bravery displayed in recent fighting. The ceremony, which was held on a picturesque field a short distance from the front line trenches, was one of the most impressive in which American soldiers had participated since their entry into war.

One hundred and seventeen men from the 104th (Massachusetts) Regiment who bore the brunt of the German attack in the Apremont forest on April 12 received medals, as did five men of another regiment who had participated in earlier fighting around Solomons. Here and there in the line of heroes were spaces representing Americans who were killed or wounded seriously.

It had been raining in the forenoon but the sun broke through the grayish clouds when the 104th Regiment, which also was decorated as a unit, passed in review before American and French generals. Bands played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Marcellaise" while the American and French flags waved proudly and defiantly within the front of the rear of German guns.

Audacity and Spirit of Sacrifice
The French general, in conferring the decorations said of the regiment: "It showed the greatest audacity and a true spirit of sacrifice. Subjected to very violent bombardments and attacked by large German forces, it succeeded in checking the dangerous advance and took at the point of the bayonet in the most vigorous way prisoners and some demolished trenches from which it had fallen back at the first assault."

The few civilian spectators who witnessed the ceremony included several French women residents of villages near the front. They cheered as the young Americans, wearing full equipment and helmets, marched by. Some Americans attached to other units were greatly moved when the band played the National anthem. They saw the bright new flag and realized what their comrades had been through to merit the honors. The General commanding the American forces shook hands with and spoke words of encouragement to each of the men decorated, saying it was the proudest moment of his life to be the commander of men who had done such great honor to the country.

DUTCH GIVE IN TO GERMAN

The Hague, April 29.—As telegraphed, the Dutch Government has yielded to German demands regarding transport and supply by Holland of road-making material, though it is understood the amount will be limited instead of unlimited. Some general undertaking will be required that the material shall not be used for military purposes. That any such guarantee from the German Government in the present circumstances is absolutely valueless is of course obvious to everybody. In regard to railway facilities a decision has not yet been reached, though the tone of the German press the last day or two gives an indication that transport of obviously military goods will not be pressed. The military press, including the Tagliche Rundschau and the Osnabruck Volk Zeitung, publish statements to the effect that Germany has no interest whatever at present in driving Holland into war either for or against the Central Powers.

The latter paper says Holland expected under economic agreement to send certain meat, animal fat and vegetables to Germany, but it seems fairly certain the Netherlands Government cannot make such arrangements even if it is willing to do so.

Rumors are current that the Netherlands Foreign Minister Loeven has resigned, or would resign. But these rumors are based on the general supposition that the minister who gave his word a few weeks ago that the traffic in sand and gravel should cease, except under strictest Dutch control of its employment, could not retain office now that his undertaking must be revoked.

TWO AMERICAN TRANSPORTS IN COLLISION

Washington, April 30.—Two American transports which were in collision at sea several days ago, have returned safely to an Atlantic port, the navy department announces, following telegram:

"Two transports which were damaged in collision at sea several days ago have arrived safely at an Atlantic port. The two vessels were in a convoy and were running without lights when the accident occurred. Neither was seriously damaged, but both were ordered to return to port for repairs. No lives are reported lost."

"A board of inquiry will be appointed to make a thorough investigation of the accident."

A dispatch from "an Atlantic port" states that the two transports left there three days ago, that the bow of one of the ships was badly smashed, that there were no casualties and all those aboard the damaged ships were transferred to other vessels.

SUNSET LEAGUE MEETING TONIGHT

A meeting of the directors of the Sunset League will be held at seven o'clock tonight in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Exchange Block on Pleasant street, opposite the post office. All who desire to get into the game the coming season should attend. Plans don't fail.

MUSICIANS' UNION TAKING IN MEMBERS

Elect Director to Succeed Dowd; Will Repair Rooms.

The Musicians' Union at a meeting held on Sunday voted an appropriation of $25 which will be used in alterations and improvements in the hall occupied by the organization in the old court house on Court street. George H. Kaula was elected a director to succeed Oliver B. Dowd who was ordered to Camp Dix in the last war draft.

The union acted on six applications which came from new residents of this city.

The reorganized band will include some twenty-five or more members and some excellent musicians will be found in the ranks.

MUST ACCOUNT FOR ALL THE UNAPPLIED STOCK ON SYSTEM

The Boston and Maine railroad is now engaged in taking account of all unapplied track material at the several stations on the system. This work was ordered by the government and means some job for the department of maintenance and way.

GRAFFORT CLUB NOTICE.

The annual business meeting of the Graffort Club will be held in Pierce hall, Wednesday afternoon, May 1, at 3.30 o'clock, for the election of officers and delegates to the State Federation meeting and the transaction of other business that may come before the club.

DRAWN AS GRAND JUROR

James W. Pridham of Newcastle has been drawn as a grand juror in the United States district court which sits at Concord today.

ARRIVED SAFELY IN FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. James A. McCarthy of Miller avenue received a cablegram today announcing the safe arrival in France of their son Lieut. Ralph G. McCarthy, U. S. N. E.

HOUSES WILL BE MODEL DWELLINGS

Settlement at Freeman's Point
Will Have Artistic Landscape Surroundings.

The special housing committee which visited this city Monday with authority to act and whose action was announced in Monday's Herald, will return to Boston to make a detailed plan for the work.

The government will finance the entire proposition, as a sum was appropriated by congress some time ago for this purpose.

The houses to be erected will be up-to-date in every respect and will be model dwellings. There will be artistic and beautiful landscape surroundings and great pains will be taken to make these dwellings all that can be desired as a home. The grounds will be laid out as a settlement. There will be a good playground for the children of the workmen, and also other recreation centers.

It is planned to erect two hundred houses at first and they will afterward be followed by two hundred more, as the occasion demands.

Messrs Killam and Hopkins, architects, of Boston, and the Lockwood and Green Engineering Co., also of that city will have entire charge of the work.

THE HERALD HEARS

That a flock of lambs owned by John Cartwright in Washington, Oregon, have a luxuriant growth of grass on their backs and well down the sides of their bodies.

That the owner accounts for these portable grass plots on the backs of his lambs from the fact that grass seed fell into the wool from feed wagons and sprouted when the animals were molted by frequent showers.

That this may not encourage the owners of lambs in this section to engage in such a production of grass, but why couldn't they feed on each others backs on days when they could not be turned out to pasture on account of the weather?

That the contractors have driven fifteen or more piling at Dover Point bridge since Saturday.

That the contractors say they will make a record job on this structure if the necessary men can be obtained for the work.

That it is understood the highway will be completed first.

That a crew will follow the pile drivers and the top will be put on as fast as the big sticks are planted in the mud.

That the Boston and Maine declared a dividend of $5 a share 30 years ago Monday.

That the stockholders would like to hear of something like that just now. That the thirteenth railors will be crowded to the doors tonight.

That real estate rumors are keeping more than one person in the air at present.

That a bill will be introduced in the next legislature for the annexation of Newcastle to Portsmouth.

That one of the Portsmouth war draftees sent from this city less than a month ago, is now in France.

That Portsmouth is to have a new band and it's going to be a good one.

That a few candidates for the police force are coming forth.

That the Manchester police department is going to reduce the force on account of no money.

That the men in the street department at Dover went on a strike on Monday.

That they want an increase of 23 cents per day making their pay $3.

That they have been granted two increases since January 1 and the commissioner of streets says he cannot grant any more and will fill the places of 18 men who refused to work.

That dog officer Barrett qualified today at city hall and is now out with the dragnet for unlicensed barkers.

That Old Man Bartleymore takes the count at 11 p. m. tonight.

That he will get some farewell reception, goes without saying.

That the thirst will not be very effective for a few weeks at least.

That clam diggers are making good money and their time on the flats is certainly worth something.

A BIG FREIGHT TRAIN

Seventy-Two Cars With Nearly 2800 Tons.

One of the largest freight trains ever moved over the Portland division of the Boston and Maine passed through this city one day recently going west. The freight was made up of 72 loaded cars with a tonnage of nearly 2800.

That the freight train service of the Boston and Maine has been revolutionized in the past dozen years is shown by the motive power and the hauling of cars by one engine which formerly made two trains. Fifteen years ago 30 cars moved over the grade between Portsmouth depot and the Plains would require the services of one of the switchers in the local yard to help out on the rear end. Many freight trains with a smaller number of cars would use up 30 or 40 minutes bucking the hill.

IN MEMORIAM ANASTASHIA PRIDHAM

Our precious baby from us has gone. A voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in our home Which never can be filled.

We miss her face, we miss her hand, Whose lightest touch seemed born of love.

Only in dream can we recall The salutary form that dwells above. —Friend.

Portsmouth, April 30.

GIRL WENT BACK ON HIM AND HE WANTED TO DIE

Nothing to Live For Says York
Man and Then Shoots Himself.

Hartley Lewis, aged 43, residing in the Agamenticus district at York, took his life because his girl jilted him.

The man sat down to breakfast about 10 o'clock with his father and had been at the table a few minutes. He apparently had little appetite and got up and walked to the door. There was a loud report and the father hurried out and found his son lying on the ground with a shotgun nearby, the barrel of which was still smoking.

"What has happened?" asked the father.

"Florence has gone back on me and there is nothing to live for," replied the man, who was in much agony as a result of the wound made by the shotgun, near the bowels. The father carried his son into the house and had to go a long distance for a neighbor, Dr. Smith of York village was summoned and while the physician was dressing the wound Lewis said: "I did a bungling job, I guess. I intended to put the gun under my chin, but my courage failed. I suppose you will take me to the hospital now, but I shall finish the job when I can." Lewis died at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

He is survived by his father and four married sisters.
